

Explore Mont Blanc

A guided exploration of the Mont Blanc terroir through scent.

Following a brief introduction to the formation of the Alps, Anastasia invites you on a sensory journey into the heart of Mont Blanc—not only its majestic peaks, but also its glaciers, forests, alpine meadows, and valleys, where a rich and layered ecosystem unfolds into a multitude of scents.

Guided through photographs from her favorite treks, you will travel across the landscape and gradually uncover the richness and diversity of its flora and natural environments.

To become fully immersed in the sensory world of Mont Blanc, each participant receives a discovery box containing carefully selected scent ingredients and paper blotters. Smell, compare, and explore the scents that shape Mont Blanc's olfactory identity—from mineral freshness to wooded depth and vegetal brightness.

The journey culminates with the discovery of Albho- in situ*, a fragrance created as an artistic interpretation of the Mont Blanc terroir. Through this final olfactory experience, you will discover how scent can translate a landscape into emotion, expressed through the Sulékó language of the seasons. Presented in a handcrafted Limoges porcelain flacon, this creation explores the intersection of botany, place, fragrance, emotion, and artistic craftsmanship.

Mont Blanc emerges as a living, breathing landscape whose richness extends far beyond alpinism and skiing. This masterclass invites you to experience it through sight, scent, and emotion, opening a sensory world that each and every one can enjoy.

Let Mont Blanc awaken your senses!
